Bennett J. FidlowABOUT BENNETT

Bennett J. Fidlow has been involved at all levels of the entertainment industry for over 20 years and specializes in giving his clients solid, practical, cost-effective business and legal advice for structuring their entertainment deals. Bennett handles all types of transactional matters in the areas of film, television, home entertainment, live theatre, visual arts, copyright, and the Internet. He has done work for studios, major broadcast & cable networks, and A-list talent, as well as for start-up companies, low-budget indie productions, and individual producers, writers, and artists. He has provided production legal services on over 50 projects, including such films as Memento, The Score (with Robert De Niro, Edward Norton & Marlon Brando), and John Singleton's Hustle & Flow. Bennett also assisted in the NBC/Vivendi Universal merger and the Sony acquisition of MGM. He is a Martindale-Hubbell rated attorney, is listed in Virginia Super Lawyers in the field of Entertainment Law, and has received many other awards and honors over the years, including being cited by the U.S. Supreme Court in connection with a major copyright decision.
